Opening Night Party: SCT's officers and board of directors cordially invite Thursday evening's audience to meet the cast and crew at an opening night party at the Ivy Guest House. The party will begin ten minutes after final curtain.

THE CAST

Terry McDowell has been in several plays for Starkville Community Theatre: award-winning Ochette Bridge Club, Steel Magnolias, Social Security, and How the Other Half Loves. She also worked backstage on The Nerd. Terry is a second grade teacher and a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church. When she's not acting, Terry enjoys camping, water skiing and people-watching. She wants to thank Monroe for the opportunity to do Miss Daisy, and a special thanks goes to her husband, B.L., for being so supportive--again!

Daniel Bates Sadler, a native of Nashville, Tennessee, is a fourth year theater major at Mississippi State University. He has performed in Nashville, Knoxville, Hattiesburg and Starkville. Plays include Shaw's My Fair Lady and Moliere's Tartuffe, and contemporaries such as Terra Nova, True West, and Look Homeward Angel. His interests are singing, playing jazz piano, and collecting antiques. He wants to thank Monroe, Marty, and the cast for this opportunity to act in his first SCT production, and his boss, Tracy, for all the time off to practice.

Varnan Durend Hall is the son of James and Eloise Hall of Cleveland, Mississippi. He is a 1987 graduate of East Side High School in Cleveland, where he was a member of the tennis team and the National Honor Society. Varnan is presently a junior majoring in Electrical Engineering at Mississippi State University, but he also plans to get a master's degree and a doctorate in the same field. This is his debut in theater.
